Newsletter

Principal's message Mr Stephen Dwyer

This final newsletter for term one concludes what has been a term with an extraordinary amount of change and adaptation in our lives in response to the evolving COVID-19 crisis. As we work in partnership for the education of your child/children, especially in these times, I want to thank you for your ongoing support and understanding as we continue to refine the online learning experience for the students. Our ongoing goal is to maintain and grow the engagement, progress and achievement of every student as we respond creatively, flexibly and effectively to ensure the best possible learning outcomes for our students. I am extremely grateful to the staff of the College for the amazing work that has been accomplished over recent weeks to provide continuity of learning for the students via an online mode, and also to put structures in place to care for the wellbeing and spiritual development of our students remotely. We will continue to keep you informed as we respond to the evolving circumstances.

As Holy Week concludes we celebrate with great joy and hope, Easter Sunday. This day celebrates God fulfilling His promise to humanity that He is with us always, telling us not to despair, to trust in His love and His power over death, as shown in the Resurrection of Jesus. It reassures us all, that we can all have that profound and life-long feeling of hope. As we reflect on the message of Holy week, may we be strengthened to walk the journey of faith and live our lives in being people of compassion, forgiveness, love, joy and hope.

Alexandra Davis in Year 11 is to be congratulated on winning the 10th annual Anzac Day writing competition. Riverina MP Michael McCormack said, "It was Alexandra Davis' piece that stood out amongst a sea of talent to win in her category. There were over 680 entries received from 34 schools across the Riverina electorate and it was Alexandra Davis from Red Bend Catholic College who won the North Division for Secondary Schools category of the 10th annual Anzac Day writing competition". Mr McCormack went on to say, "As Anzac services have been cancelled this year due to the Coronavirus pandemic, it is now more important than ever for us all to remember our Anzacs and invoke their resilient spirit." This competition serves as an alternative way to commemorate our Anzacs, which is crucial in the current and unprecedented environment. Congratulations Alexandra.

Parent Teacher Student Interviews were scheduled at the start of term 2 on Monday 27 April. These have been postponed. We are developing ways that we can provide relevant feedback to our families. More information will come in the near future.

At our College assembly last week, our College Captains Olivia Beasely and Antez Varghese presented messages of hope to our students. These genuine and insightful presentations encouraged and challenged our students to stay strong, look after themselves and to keep moving forward. We are so blessed to have inspirational leaders who serve our College community and engender such hope in uncertain times. A copy of the messages are presented later in this newsletter or you can click here to see Olivia's video presentation, or here to see Antez's video presentation.

It is marvellous to note what has been achieved throughout the term, the learning experiences that have been encountered in challenging circumstances, the strength of our community in managing the adversities that have come our way and the support that has been given to one another. Our Marist Family Spirit that is strongly relational and affective, is what connects us and inspires our actions and interactions within and beyond our community. It is our Marist spirit and our genuine family relationships that guide and inspire our particular way of being Marist. Thank you for your support especially over recent weeks and we will continue to keep you updated. Online classes for term 2 will commence on Tuesday 28 April, subject to any further direction from relevant authorities. The College will contact all parents and carers, to notify you if there are any subsequent changes. I hope that each of you stay safe and well and that you have a happy and holy Easter and holidays.

May Marcellin Champagnat and Mary our Good mother continue to watch over our community.

Deputy Principal's message Mr James Metzeling

This term we have had a very strong focus on Student Wellbeing and introducing the Australian Wellbeing Framework here at the Red Bend. A quick refresher of what the framework is about is below:

The Wellbeing Framework provides school communities with best-practice advice to help all students from the first year of school to year 12. It encompasses 5 areas of Wellbeing, which are: Leadership (Leadership to inspire Positive School Communities), Inclusion (So everyone feels connected and that they belong), Student Voice (Authentic Student Participation) , Partnerships (Effective Family and Community working together) and Support (which means supporting positive behaviour).

So What's it all about? What are some of the factors that make up wellbeing?

Some aspects of Wellbeing are:

- Being involved in supportive relationships
- Feeling that your life has meaning and purpose
- Feeling connected to others in your community
- Feeling a sense of control of your emotions
- Engaging in activities that are important to you

We know that young people who feel safe, connected and secure, and have loving and trusting relationships, are more likely to be active participants in their learning and to achieve better physical, emotional, social and educational outcomes. Therefore this term on reflection we have put the following into place to help with improving Student Wellbeing:

Pastoral Care groups are now focusing for 3 weeks at a time on certain Mental Health Focus'. This is being driven heavily by the student leaders so that they have a voice in how we can help student Wellbeing.

- Different Student Wellbeing topics are presented at Assemblies
- Activities at lunchtime to promote inclusiveness
- We have introduced the Australian Wellbeing Framework to students, staff and our parent body. This has been through Assemblies, Newsletters and with Parents through nights such as our "Parents as Partners" night.
- We have been writing about Mental Health Issues in the Newsletter and Strategies to deal with these issues
- Regular updates to staff on the importance of Mental Health issues and how we can assist

While we have been doing all these things we are well aware that this is only the tip of the iceberg in relation to what we can be doing and we look forward to starting up new ideas, building on old ones and making sure Student Wellbeing is at the heart of all that we do.

Talking to your Children about CoVid 19

I quite often refer to articles put out by Next Generation and I was reading another excellent article about talking to your children and advice to follow when addressing issues surrounding CoVid 19. Therefore I thought I would share the information with our school community.

How to talk to your children about coronavirus: top 10 questions answered

Don't be afraid to talk to your kids about the pandemic. They need to hear from you, advises Professor Jennie Hudson, Director of Macquarie University's Centre for Emotional Health.

Your children have definitely heard about coronavirus, and right now they are looking to the adults in their life for guidance. Importantly, try to stay calm. And following these guidelines will help. This was definitely not in the parenting handbook but together as a community we can support each other when dealing with these issues.

Below are some questions that the article answers and provides us parents with good practical advice.

Questions:

1. What's the best way to talk to our kids?
2. Should we be avoiding the news?
3. Is there a perfect time to have the coronavirus conversation?
4. Should we avoid talking about things like supermarket shortages in front of them?
5. How can you tell if it is impacting them, if they seem fine?
6. If the children are at home in isolation, how can we make this work for them?
7. How are we going to keep our kids off their screens?
8. What kind of questions can we anticipate?
9. Are there different ways to communicate based on ages?
10. What about dealing with the stress of not seeing grandparents?

Change to Entering and Exiting Traffic

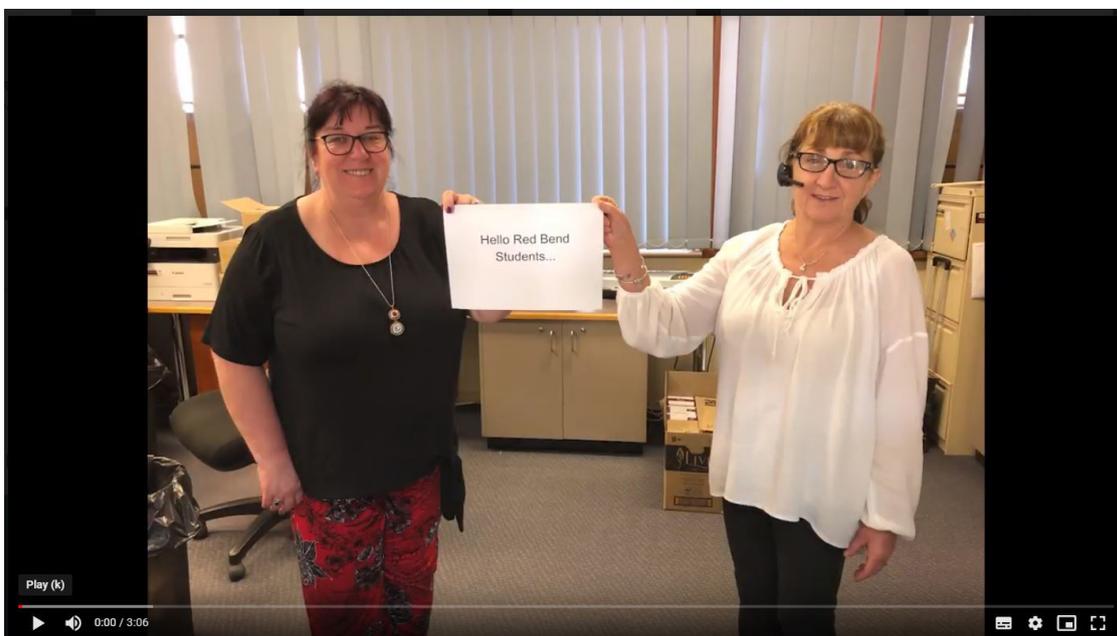

As of the beginning of Term 2 we are changing the way that vehicles will be entering and exiting the College.

Currently we give way to exiting vehicles. As of the start of Term 2 we will be changing this around.

From the beginning of Term 2 we will be giving way to vehicles entering the College. Therefore if you are exiting the College we ask that you look before driving through the gates and if necessary stop at the Giveway sign to allow the vehicles to enter the College.

We will change the signage accordingly and we will also have staff directing the flow of vehicles for the first 2 weeks of the Term until people are used to the new changed traffic flow. We thank you for your help with this.

I hope that you have a safe holiday. Click on the image below to view a message from all staff here at Red Bend Catholic College.

Message of Hope from our Captains ...

Olivia Beasley

but we can't sit here and feel upset over the circumstances because it's something that not one of us can change. We have to remember that we are all in this together and are all supporting each other every step of the way even from our homes.

We also need to make sure we thank our teachers who are working tirelessly to help us and do what is best for us. They have had to learn many new things about online learning and they are doing everything they can to make sure we are receiving all of the right sources and information.

Finally, thank your family and those around you who are supporting you. Everyone will be coping with this challenge differently so make sure that you keep being kind and letting whoever it is that is supporting you know how appreciative you are. For now concentrate on the positives. Focus on your school work, keep working hard and try your best to stay motivated. Utilise the great resources that are given to us and focus on the quality time you get to spend with those who mean the most to you.

Remember to love who you can, help where you can and give what you can.

Stay healthy and stay home.
See you soon :)

Let's be real, there is so much happening in our world today that is totally outside of our control. Not just the corona virus itself, but all the other aspects of life that might be impacted, from school, and work to socialising and travel. At times like this, it can be helpful to remember that there are things you can do to deal with the uncertainty. Give yourself credit as you cope with this tough time and recognise that dealing with this challenge can make you more resilient. We all have to understand that life goes on. We have to support those around us who might be struggling a little more at the moment and make sure they know we are there to support them.

Yes there's no denying that it is a tough time and no one has experienced anything like this before,

Antez Varghese

In an ideal world, I would be speaking to you on stage live and in person, but the simple fact is that life is full of ups and downs. We will get obstacles thrown at us but its not the challenge that defines the person you are. Its how you face that challenge. Without avoiding the obvious, you all know, we, as in humanity, are faced with the coronavirus. Especially during these next few months, times are gonna get tough, but there is no point getting caught up on the numbers we see on social media. Afterall a lot of it's out of our control, so instead of stressing out about what you cant do, why not make an effort to do what you can. This doesn't have to be much. For example maintain good hygiene, a balanced lifestyle and most importantly support those around you. After all, human beings are social creatures, so don't just help yourself. Instead, lift each other up and inspire hope in others. Know, also, that we are in good hands with medical staff and essential services working around the clock. These people are risking their lives for our wellbeing every day, so let them know they're making a difference by simply saying thank you and following the public guidelines. And most importantly, take this opportunity to bring unity between each other and the wider community. 'After all, this faceless enemy that we are confronted with doesn't see; gender, race or colour'. So why should we? Fellow students, keep studying as hard as you can, athletes, D&D players, chess club, musicians etc keep practising no matter what. All of you keep doing what you love and continue living your one wild and precious life. And if times do get hard, which they will, I'd like for you to remember this quote. 'Although we may be at a red light now, there is a green light waiting for us not too far ahead. All you need for now is hope and strength, hope that we will get there and strength to hold on till we do'. Stay safe, healthy, wash your hands and stay inside. See you all soon. Thank you

LEGAL STUDIES

Recently, Mrs Martin's Legal class held a mini parliament performance in class. The reason behind doing a mini parliament was so that we could all gain a better understanding of the process of passing a bill through parliament. We set the classroom up to replicate the Legislative Council, which was also what we learnt in class previously. We had 8 students on one side of the classroom who were the NSW Government and one of which was the Premier, 7 students on the opposite side of the classroom one of whom was the opposition leader, the Speaker out the front who was part of the Government and we had three students down the back to represent individual parties. All students had to allocate themselves a role for example, the Minister for Environmental Affairs, and then prepare arguments to back up reasons for either passing or not passing the bill.

The bill that the government was trying to pass was the "Abolition of all Plastic Bags." To start off the debate the Speake, Georgia Haggarty, called upon anyone who had a bill to propose. Sam Gibson, who was the Premier, stepped forward and proposed the Bill for the "Abolition of all Plastic Bags." He explained briefly what the Bill was about. The debate then started.

All class members participated and argued back and forth, trying to put their ideas forward and to contradict and challenge the ideas of others. The arguments were very well informed, using many statistics and factual evidence. The debate got very heated with the opposition leader, Liam Borger, receiving his first warning, from the Speaker, to exit the parliament. After the disputes had settled, it was time to vote. The overall decision as to whether the Bill would be passed relied on Sienna Emseis, a member of an independent party, whose vote would seal the deal. If she sided with the NSW Government the Bill would be passed, but if she sided with the Opposition it would be a tie. Sienna chose to vote for not passing the Bill, this created a tie, 9 on both sides. The final decision then came down to Georgia, the speaker. Georgia voted to pass the Bill, this meant the NSW Government was successful in passing the Bill for the "Abolition of all Plastic Bags."

This mini parliament was very beneficial for our whole class as it significantly developed our understanding of the process of passing a bill and the whole class definitely agrees that it was also a whole load of fun as well.

Year 7 Easter prayer

Risen Jesus,
We come before you this Easter, grateful for all of our teachers, friends and families supporting us throughout our first term at Red Bend Catholic College. We bring before you our hopes for a happy and safe holiday and that Covid-19 goes away soon.

We ask you to strengthen us for the year ahead, to help us to help each other and to always have faith in God.

We pray that your resurrection unites us in faith.

Amen

Clare Gorton | Year 7

Equestrian cancelled

It is with a great deal of regret that in light of the increasing shut downs across the state the Expo Committee wishes to advise that this year's event has been cancelled. Thank you to all the schools who registered Team Managers – we were certainly on track for a fantastic event with riders across the state attending.

This year would have been the 28th year of school based equestrian events held in Coonabarabran. Equine Influenza, fires, 125mm of rain during the Expo and three years of drought didn't stop Expo however this year the decision has been taken out of our hands.

We do have a large number of woolen rugs ready for this event and we are offering them for sale to competitors. The rugs have our logo, sponsor and date on them and there are a range of sizes.

They are for sale for $200.

If you are interested please email coonaexpo@gmail.com with your name, mailing address and size. We will issue an invoice and on payment we will mail out the rug. The purchase of an Expo 2020 rug will help our local sponsors and our Committee be in a wonderful position for our 2021 Event.

Thank you to all the Red Bend students who expressed their interest in being a part of the team. We had record numbers and were looking forward to a big representation. However, I think 2021 will be our best year yet! I will be in touch when planning begins for next year.

Take care.

Mrs West | RBCC Equestrian Team Manager

After the Show cancellation

Well what a year so far!!!!

After preparing our 14 animals for 6 or so months the situation in this world has forced the RAS to cancel the Sydney Royal Easter Show. This is only the 3rd time in the 200 year history of the show that a decision like this has had to be made (once for the Spanish Flu - 1919 and once during the Great Depression of 1929).

This Covid 19 event is rocking the world and it is not over yet. The Red Bend Cattle Team is extremely disappointed that we will not be competing in Sydney in April and we realise things do not look too promising for getting into the Showing anywhere and anytime soon.

In light of this the Cattle Team decided to not cry into our halter bags but do something positive to combat the negatives surrounding us. We were holding a pseudo "The Red Bend Royal" during sport on Thursday 26th March where each of our Sydney steers were to be prepared for the showing and judged "live" by our guest judges- Jeff House and Jack Woodburn. This now also has been cancelled as the student numbers have diminished greatly as students are working from home.

The last piece of good news in this area is that a stock and station business from Glen Innes has decided to take over the Carcase component of the competition. Colin Say & Co have organised to run the competition with a drop off at Dubbo Saleyards next Sunday 5th April and the animals then going to either Tamworth or Wingham abattoirs. Of course this may also be cancelled but we can hope and pray it happens.

The Land has just announced the first time ever "Beef Battle"- an online live judging of cattle. Details will be out this coming Friday.

So at this stage we are feeding our beasts and maintaining our spirits as much as possible.

Below are some photos from our endeavours over the past couple of weeks.

DENIS HOUSE REPORT

Hello everyone, from our three Denis captains for 2020, Grace Osborne, Matt Dillon and Emmie Searl.

We have had so many exciting things happening in Denis so far this year, one of the best is having a huge bunch of new Year 7's who are eager and ready to take on their first year of high school. The swimming carnival was a great opportunity for all year 7s to see a glimpse of the Denis spirit and be a part of such a fun and memorable day. It is also important to note that Denis created an amazing chant that involved our very own Ryan Sharp (11) who starred as our drummer and wowed the audience with his impressive skills, backed up by the roar of the mighty Denis Dragons. Click on the link to see us in action. The energy on that day by all our dragons was the highest we have seen in a long time. Another congratulations goes to Alex Drewes (10) who designed a magnificent cover for the carnival booklet, taking out First Place!

Another event to recap is the Year 12 Retreat which occurred in Week 6. It was a time where our Year 12 Denis students got together and reflected on their faith journeys and participated in many fun activities. The highlight was the skit night where all our Year 12's created a performance that made every single person laugh. Everyone came together and got involved and it was great just to spend time and have fun with each other. It was a memorable trip for our year 12 group who will cherish those three days for a long time to come.

From Miss Langley...

A huge thank you to the following students who, ably led by Liturgy Captain Emmie, joined Matt and Grace in delivering the Denis Liturgy in Week 7: Isla Skinner (8), Jack Skinner (9), Rhys Glasson (10), Austin Fay (11), Maisy Osborne (11), James Barnes (12), Houstyn Blades (12), Abby Greenaway (12), Ethan Hoswell (12), and Chloe Howarth (12).

It is great to see the dragons engaging in online learning and showing off their Denis spirit with #DenisFromADistance. The Captains and I are very proud of everyone's efforts and we look forward to seeing everyone when we can finally return!

DENIS FROM A DISTANCE

Creative & Performing Arts

This week, the CAPA Department has missed the steady stream of enthusiastic students who come to our door seeking a space to play music throughout the day. Lessons are continuing and a wide variety of creative opportunities are posted each week for your son and daughter.

Throughout the term, students have been working on nailing a repertoire of songs from the Musical - Back to the 80's. I am very impressed with the diligence and skill of all involved. This includes the children working behind the scenes in backstage, prop design and sound and lighting. As you can expect, there may be a change to the set dates for the production. I will let people know of changes, if they occur, as soon as we can. I encourage all cast members to continue to learn their lines and the lyrics of songs. Belt out those glorious 80's numbers at any moment and make sure you work with backing tracks shared with you. Students who may have questions can direct these to me via email.

Art projects completed this term have revealed a promising, long list of artists. Particularly in the junior school. Complicated Surreal sculptures and Impressionist studies of the landscape are features of the classroom. Our year 12 HSC Major Works continue to progress. We have a talented group of artists who can draw and sculpt like the professionals! I hope that they find plenty of time to continue to refine their work in the following weeks. Photography is very popular this year. Our students in Year 9 have explored stylistic conventions, creating a portfolio of six works. Year 10 Photography students have demonstrated their knowledge of science, geography and digital artmaking practices, creating fantasy worlds. The standard of work has been most pleasing. Musicians in Year 8 have recently completed writing music, or compositions, to support an advertisement. This project has demonstrated how inventive our students truly are! Using BandLab, they have arranged original music that promoted a product. The Year 12 Music class is full of gifted musicians who work beautifully together. They are regular contributors to College Assemblies, giving generously of their time and skill for the enjoyment of all. Bethany Burton, Jacqueline Hands, Gracey-Denham Jones (Year 12) and the entire Year 11 Band are to be congratulated on their outstanding performances this term.

The Red Bend Drama Kings and Queens have had an excellent start to the year! The combined Year 9 and 10 class have begun their studies in Drama with an introduction to the elements of drama (the essential components of performance) and improvisation. It has been incredible to see how quickly they have developed as performers and theatrical practitioners in just a few weeks. The Year 11 class has commenced their Preliminary course with the 'Elements of Production' topic, learning all about the numerous directorial and design staff involved in putting on a production, from conceptualisation to opening night. All of our fantastic Drama students should feel proud of their incredible achievements so far in 2020, working collaboratively in the theoretical and practical components of the subject so that everyone can achieve their best.

Wishing everyone a restful and safe holiday.
Warmest Regards
Wendy Burke and the CAPA Department

"Lifting our spirits"

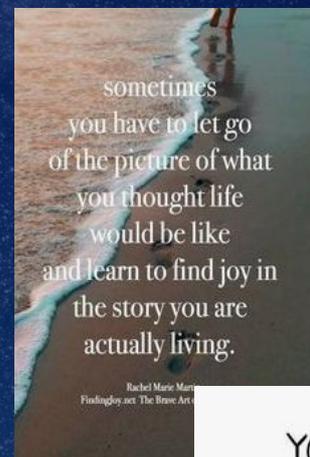

Reflection

"Do not fear: I am with you; do not be anxious: I am your God. I will strengthen you, I will help you, I will uphold you with my victorious right hand." (Isaiah 41:10)

Quotes-

"Over these past weeks of working at home, I found I was starting to feel a bit defeated and had low spirits. I found these quotes which gave me motivation to help power through these tough times, and I thought I might share them with you guys. Don't forget to look after yourself, give yourself a break, do some exercise, and make time for connecting with friends."
